

I was introduced to Tesla Technology by Walter about 5 years ago, Walter being a dear friend for many years stayed with us for a short while and whilst on holiday from Queensland with him he brought over his Tesla products. My two sons both had been diagnosed with ADD and in spite of my trying to improve their situation by modifying their diet and behaviour they are sometimes quite angry and volatile in their outbursts. Walter immediately installed a house plate and an electric stabiliser and with a smile on his face said just wait and watch, it should take about 20 min and you will notice that the boys will calm down and their aggression will cease. The skeptic in me smiled inside, but I was pleasantly surprised to see that they had actually calmed down and were sitting together on the same sofa no less watching TV. The skeptic once again reasoned that no doubt they would have calmed down anyway regardless of the Tesla stuff.

Walter stayed with us on and off for about two weeks all the time leaving the Tesla house plate and stabiliser installed in our home. Time came for Walter to pack up and go back home to Queensland. As he was packing the boys suddenly started yelling and screaming at each other, and I was quite shocked at their outburst as it totally came out of the blue, I had not heard such an outburst for quite some time. Walter came out of his room and informed me that approx 20 min earlier he had removed the electric stabiliser and put away the house plate. The change in the boys behaviour was so extreme that I had no doubt that both the house plate and the stabiliser was responsible for nipping that aggression and out of control behaviour in the bud previously. The skeptic in me had no choice but to believe the validity of Tesla Technology, I immediately ordered the products and have over the years added the water kit, the computer plate, and for myself a personal pendant a chakra balancer and a travel plate.

3 years ago I was taken to hospital with a painful double prolapse of the bowel and bladder. I was put into a shared ward where my neighbour in the other bed was in hospital for the same operation as me, she also had a double prolapse of the bowel and bladder, we both had the same surgeon, she went in approximately 90 minutes before me.

I had taken a travel plate with me to hospital because Walter had suggested that after the operation I tape it just above the pubic bone to promote healing. This is exactly what I did. On the first day I was still feeling very uncomfortable but I was not in a great deal of pain, by the second day I was wandering around with very little pain or discomfort, on the third day I went home virtually pain free and no discomfort at all. My room mate on the other hand was in agony and the third day still could not move around very well or sit up properly moaning about how unfair it was that I was wandering around without any discomfort at all.

Please note the surgeon had explained prior to operation that I must expect to be in hospital for approx 7 days and recover would take at least 6-8 weeks and in that time I was to do absolutely nothing at all no housework no laundry no shopping no standing up for more than a few moments at a time and to spend the bulk of the day lying down so as not to put undue strain cause by gravity on my stitches etc.

My recovery time took approximately 2-3 weeks and as far as I am concerned my rapid healing and recovery would not have occurred had I not had on the Tesla Travel Plate to promote such rapid healing.

In making this testimonial I declare these events to be absolutely accurate.

Anytime I feel unwell I use my travel plate, I also use it on my food especially if I eat out it helps to change any negative emotional energy created by the food handlers and raises the vibration of the food which in turn makes it taste better.
